FOR AUTO DRIVERS

Every man who drives an automobile should read the Newark, N. J. Star-Eagle's note to a hit and run driver.

There is always present the danger to every driver that he or she will become involved in a collision. The temptation to flee is strong under such circumstances, even though the driver perhaps is not the one at fault. The aftermaths of such occurrences are unpleasant and the natural tendency is to avoid them. If ever in that situation remember this article:

HIT-RUN NOTE

"Whoever you are, wherever you are, I hope this will reach you so that when you try to sleep at night the picture will be before your very eyes.

"YOU KILLED GEORGE Y. M. POLSKY!"

"His left ear was almost off and blood trickled through it for twenty-one hours; his skull was fractured, a compound fracture the doctors called it, and the brain was shattered against broken bones; his right eye was pushed back into his head, and his forehead, which was always so straight and bold and smooth and full of character, was just a hole. His left eye was only bruised—not badly, but just enough to take away all chance of sight if he had lived. Traces were left of his once powerful, masterful jaw, but his mouth was no longer his, for teeth were now gone and lips and gums bruised and discolored.

"The most merciful Almighty

Local Clothing Merchant, Divorce Suit Defendant

MARTINEZ, Dec. 19.—Ward McRacken, Richmond clothing merchant, named defendant in a suit for divorce filed in superior court here by Mrs. Helen F. McRacken, charging desertion and cruelty.

Mrs. McRacken's action was filed through attorneys A. B. Tinning and T. H. DeLap.

The couple married March 12, 1929, and separated December 12, 1932. They have two children, Elizabeth 11, and Margaret 5.

Mrs. McRacken claims her husband was cruel to her in that he became intoxicated and associated with other women.

The plaintiff asks custody of the two daughters and $350 monthly alimony. She alleges McRacken as an income in excess of $500 per month.

She also asks community property consisting of an equity in a home at 545 Eleventh street, Richmond, a rent's furnishing store at 1011 Macdonald avenue, Richmond, and cash in banks.

Abductors Of Milne Sought By U.S. Agents

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Dec. 19.—U. S. Agent C. J. Milne, 4th, tonight minutely described his kidnappers and the place where he had been held for $50,000 ransom, to Justice Department agents.

The young amateur actor, recovering from narcotics given him by the abductors, told a full story of his kidnapping. A score of G-men immediately left on a secret mission to search for the hideout.

Nevada Rancher, Victim Of Thugs, Is Critically Ill

MARTINEZ, Dec. 19.—John Fife, wealthy Nevada rancher, severely beaten November 29 when he was lured from a San Francisco bound train at Crockett by train acquaintances, is still in critical condition in a San Francisco hospital, it was learned today.

Fife was injured internally and will have to submit to an operation when he has gained sufficient strength.

The aged man, still hazy upon details of the attack, is a brother of Dr. Joseph Fife of San Francisco.

The Nevada was found wandering in a daze and was brought to the sheriff's office here by Constable Eugene Shea of Pinole. He was unable to identify himself but was recognized by Hercules Logan, deputy sheriff, who knew him in San Francisco years ago.

Fife told an incoherent story of being lured from the train, taken to the hills, beaten and robbed and left to shift for himself. Internal injuries, it is said, appeared to have been caused by kicking.

GRAND JURY TO QUESTION EX-HUSBAND

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 19.—UP.—While glamorous Thelma Todd, still beautiful in death, was cremated tonight and her ashes sealed in a white stone crypt, detectives dug into secrets of the actress' life to disclose, if possible, the truth about her strange death.

As the last rites for the actress sounded in the dim, flower-scented steeple of West Kirk O'Heather in Forest Lawn, police took swift steps to bring back to the scene of her death the man who played the most prominent part in Thelma Todd's life—dashing "Pat" De Cicco, her former husband.

LEAVES FOR HOME

The lanky, dark-eyed hero of Thelma's biggest romance climbed into a plane bound for New York the night after his ex-wife's crumpled body was found in the front seat of her automobile in a closed garage near her beach home.

As De Cicco left, he remarked to an airport attendant that he "knew nothing about Thelma's death." He explained he was going to visit his mother at Smithtown, N. Y., for the Christmas holidays and was "sorry he couldn't stay for the funeral."

GAMBLING RING

Grand Jury Foreman George Rochester, who has ordered an inquiry into the actress' death, said he would "request De Cicco's return, to answer some important questions."

Inquiry apparently was divided into two channels, both possibly involving information that De Cicco might have. These are:

First, possibility Miss Todd was

Baldwin Wins Vote Victory In Parliament

LONDON, Dec. 19.—UP.—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin transformed political tides into victory tonight when he won a smashing vote of confidence on the government's revamped foreign policy, abandoning the Paris peace plan.

The House of Commons, which earlier had heard Baldwin humbly apologize for the "blunder" of his resigned foreign minister, Sir Samuel Hoare, voted endorsement of a strong League of Nations policy, 397 to 165.

HOARE MAKES DEFENSE

The 165 presumably represented those who lined up with sympathy and acquiescence today when Sir Samuel Hoare, speaking as a private individual—made a fighting defense of his attempt with Premier Pierre Laval of France to end the Italo-Ethiopian war.

The vote was on a motion, first introduced by the Laborites to censure the government for Hoare's participation in "betrayal" of the League and Ethiopia, but amended by the Conservatives to condemn the earlier policy of the Baldwin cabinet to which Britain now returns.

PARTIES UNITED

Conservatives, Laborites and Liberals—all those who believe Britain should cooperate in strict League measures to choke off Italian militarism as an object lesson to future aggressors—voted for the motion.

Had Sir Samuel not resigned last night and the vote been on the original motion, the result would have been different.

Enforcement Of Liquor Laws Is Meet's Subject

MARTINEZ, Dec. 19.—Meeting here today with liquor enforcement officers of the state board of equalization, approximately 30 Contra Costa police officials and prosecutive authorities pledged their cooperation in the enforcement of liquor laws.

The meeting was arranged at the request of Fred E. Stewart, member of the board from this district, and brought Sotinus Nelson and J. E. DiBer of Oakland, acting chief and assistant chief liquor enforcement officers for Contra Costa and Alameda counties, and Anthony Reggiardo, county liquor enforcement officer in consultation with Contra Costa police, Sheriff John Miller and deputies, constables and District Attorney Francis P. Healy.

Healy informed Nelson that Reggiardo has done effective work and has been co-operative with his officers.

"I could not ask finer co-operation," Healy said.

Sheriff Miller and Inspector Wylie of Richmond police both said the state board had been co-operative in handling liquor cases.

Nelson explained various provisions of the law and answered questions of the officers.

Numbered among the peace officers present in addition to those named above were: C. Palmer, J. Rodda, R. R. Cheek, M. G. Moltozo, M. Shea, G. Furlada, R. Shea, F. Slattery, W. Wiley, Joe Jesse, B. Rogers, Trudy Smith, Charles Schwa, S. Stowe, J. W. Ott, L. Parker, A. Reggiardo, William Smiley.

SENTENCE TO BE PASSED NEXT WEEK

FORT CATHART, Wash. Dec. 19.—UP.—A jury of housewives, farmers, navy yard workers and small town merchants today found Leo Hall, 33, guilty of the sensational Bremerton "mass murders" of 1934 and ordered that he die on the state penitentiary grounds at Walla Walla for the crime.

The eight men and four women, after 17 hours, freed Percy Peterson, a clerk in the state prison who was charged with the murder and said he aided him in a house party robbery that ended in murder.

TO BE SENTENCED

Hall will be sentenced within a few days by Superior Judge H. G. Sutton of Kitsap county. He heard the jury's verdict with the same stolid, cynical expression that marked his attitude during the ten days of the trial. His attorney, Everett H. Bates, immediately announced he would appeal the case to the State Supreme court.

Blind Senator Struck By Auto; Badly Injured

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—UP.—Senator Thomas D. Schall, R., Minn., a blind senator and arch critic of the New Deal, tonight was struck down and badly injured by an automobile on the Baltimore-Washington highway at Cottage Md., near his country estate.

Witnesses said the accident occurred as Schall, accompanied by O. R. Lean, a clerk in his office, left the Senator's parked car and attempted to walk across the highway to a store.

Schall received a fractured skull, internal injuries and a compound leg fracture, while Lean suffered head injuries, which were not believed serious.

LIQUOR CONTROL

Showdown Due At Meet Today

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 19.—UP.—State Board of Equalization members tonight prepared for a "showdown" meeting Friday in which the state's entire liquor law enforcement set-up may be revamped and issuance of 1936 licenses temporarily halted.

State Controller Ray L. Riley, ex-officio member of the board, reiterated his intention of proposing a shift of enforcement duties from the board and its agents to local police.

He also intimated that he would ask that 1936 licenses be halted pending possible revision of the enforcement organization and further inspection of the license applications.

Ray Edgar, new member of the board, appointed by Governor Merriam, committed himself to a reform policy in the board, but declined to say whether he would align himself with Riley in favor of local enforcement.

Raid Fails To Stop The Dog Track

The El Cerrito dog track was going full blast again last night and with a good-sized crowd in attendance. And options were being sold as usual.

Apparently such a thing as a raid like that staged by the district attorney's cohorts, when some 20 or 40 deputies arrested 29 people connected with the enterprise, makes no difference in the life of this amusement enterprise.

The same force of officials and employees was in evidence, none of them seeming to mind the fact that just 24 hours before they had been gathered in by the limbs of the law. Even the dogs seemed to enjoy it.

The Scio's are planning to have every underprivileged child of the bay region as their guest during the circus. A 1936 model automobile will be given as door prize.

CHARTER TO BRING ABOUT NEW SET-UP

Adoption of a new charter for the city of El Cerrito was further complicated yesterday when school authorities announced that if the proposed charter is voted by residents of the neighboring city, El Cerrito must set up its own school district for elementary schools.

HIGH NOT AFFECTED

Superintendent of Schools Walter T. Helms, in a letter to Robert Collins, chairman of the high school board of trustees, pointed out that the high school would not be affected by the new charter, nor would the proposed El Cerrito junior high school as the City of El Cerrito is a part of the Union High School district.

LETTER SENT TO OFFICIAL

A copy of the letter, in which Helms declares that should the new charter be adopted El Cerrito must take over and run the Harding and Fairmont schools, was sent to Attorney A. G. Thompson, one of the freeholders who is assisting in drawing up the new charter.

Helms stated that should this happen, children living in Mira Vista section of El Cerrito who are attending the Woodrow Wilson school in Richmond at the present time would be forced to attend either Harding or Fairmont schools and those residing in the Kensington area, who are pupils at the Harding or Fairmont schools would have to attend the Kensington school.

TAKE OVER SCHOOLS

Furthermore, Helms said yesterday, El Cerrito might profit by the move as the new elementary school district would take over all property owned by the Richmond elementary school district in El Cerrito. Hiring of teachers would be

Oh, Doctor! Do Something Quick! Spiders Do Bite!

This is one of those stories from which a great lesson may be learned—maybe. It should demonstrate the triumph of mind over matter, or vice versa. To prevent embarrassment to the star of this little drama his name will not be used.

It seems that yesterday a workman at a local plan was unloading lumber. A spider scurried out from between two boards and he may have, or may not have taken a nip at the workman's finger before taking it on the lam. The workman thought nothing of it until an hour later when he examined his thumb and discovered that the skin had been broken. He opined that maybe that spider had bitten him, bluish.

One very cheerful and optimistic pal immediately piped up and said: "I'll bet you a dollar that was a black widow spider. When they bite you it's fatal."

The workman gave one startled gasp and collapsed in a heap—out like a light and colder than one of these "moderate" breezes we are having.

Companions took the fainting workman to a local doctor who examined the wound and told him that it wasn't a black widow spider bite. In fact, it wasn't even a bite.

Much relieved, the workman went on his way rejoicing to buy a pair of gloves.

Van Zandt In Burst Of Speed
Annexes Race

Van Zandt, by Galway Racers, Miss Montana, and an old favorite with San Francisco, took the lead in the fourth race at El Cerrito Kennel Club track, which is now going at full steam ahead. Van Zandt, whose best effort in the last four starts was a miserable eighth to Canby, showed a remarkable burst of speed last night, and had the crowd cheering as he overhauled Bold Barbarian and won extended. The redemption was $28.20 preferred odds, and $11 secondary, from now on Van Zandt is likely to be hot.

Another to awaken was Chow Mein, who after two starts in the rack, defeated Buck Carlos and Montana last night and paid $10.00. Chow Mein showed a tendency to increase the pace at the finish of the five-sixths mile, indicating good stamina.

Student Protest March Halted

TIENSIN, Friday, Dec. 20.—UP—The "death march" of students of the Nankai Middle School toward Nanking to protest against the Chinese government policy of non-resistance to Japanese aggression in North China was held up today at Yang Liu-Ching, a village to the south-west of Tientsin today.

After 370 students had started the march to the national capital yesterday, pleased to "do or die" protesters who pursued the youths in motor trucks induced all but 50 to return to Tientsin.

Dread Epidemic Under Control

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 19.—UP—Rigid quarantine—the only effective weapon that medical science has for stamping out spinal meningitis—tonight apparently had halted a dread epidemic in Central Oklahoma.

For the first day in more than a week not a single new case was reported, leaving the high mark of the outbreak at 35 cases and 15 deaths.

A strict quarantine was still maintained with the aid of highway patrolmen and National Guardsmen in southern Kiowa county.

pete has been asked to call the El Cerrito fire department and to Fire Chief O. A. Barnett or Engineer J. DeMartini who they wish to do. They may also appear backstage at the school between 7:30 and 8:30 on Monday night.

On the company will be Henry H. Tezzi, chairman; S. S. Hudson, Dale Baskett, Fire Chief O. A. Barnett and Engineer J. DeMartini. Santa Claus will appear to distribute fruits, candies and nuts to the audience.

Tar Baby Tries Burlesque

SAM LANGFORD, "Boston Tar Baby," pugilist of other days, who has gone through a long run of hard luck, what with partial blindness, no job, and a recent motor accident, is signed up by a Brooklyn, N. Y., burlesque king to appear in his show. Girls of the chorus look on.

JAP EDUCATOR IS BARRED BY U. S. OFFICIALS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19.—UP—Dr. T. Yoshio Kagawa, Japanese Christian leader who arrived here today aboard the Cutchin Maru to begin a nation-wide speaking tour, was denied entrance to the United States by immigration authorities.

Examination at Angel Island, where passengers were placed in quarantine, showed Dr. Kagawa was suffering from trachoma, a severe eye infection, officials said.

Dr. Kagawa reportedly contracted the disease while doing evangelist work in the slum district of Tokyo. He reportedly has been operated upon 13 times. "There is no possibility that Dr. Kagawa can be allowed to enter the United States unless he receives special authorization from Washington," officials at Angel Island said.

"The bearer of a disease as serious as trachoma cannot be admitted to the country under our immigration regulations. At present, it appears that Dr. Kagawa will have to return to Japan."

American friends of the noted Japanese church worker appealed to Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins in an effort to receive a special permit to allow him to land at San Francisco.

Unless that is granted, authorities said, there is no chance that he will be able to come into the country.

ROBERT COLLINS, prominent Richmond attorney, is confined to his home, 1495 Bissell avenue, suffering from influenza.

DeMoss appealed to Governor Merriam for commutation of his

"TO BEAT THE BAND" COMEDY, AT FOX TODAY

In "To Beat The Band" which heads the new program at the Fox theater today RKO Radio presents a comedy full of melody, yet strong at plot, as compared with the average run of musical comedy productions.

With a cast headed by Thelma Houston and Helen Prosser, who starred in "Two Hats" and contains such players as Roger Pryor, Ray Mayer, Charles Brooks and the original "California" Collection. "To Beat The Band" is well equipped with all the things that make a musical comedy a success.

The Britishers of the "To Beat The Band" are not bluffing. Self-prime, were reported against concentrated secretly against English shipping. British agents concluded that the very secrecy of the ship movements belied any idea of bluff. They also reported the Italian people ready for war.

NO FRENCH SUPPORT
TWO was an ultimatum given Sir Samuel Hoare by Premier Laval that while he would support Great Britain publicly, France would not and could not mobilize in case of war.

He pointed out first, that French positions would not answer a mobilization call. Even more important, the Conscript Maritime or French Navy reserves, who would have been mobilized first, would not answer a call.

The British were not quite sure at first whether Laval was double crossing them, so checked this their own agents. They found Laval was telling the truth. This was what Stanley Baldwin meant when he announced in Parliament that his plans were sealed regarding certain things.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(Detail)—

and confidential reports regarding the mysterious British back-down, originally accepting the Hoare-Laval peace plan, gradually have trickled back to Washington.

They paint a revealing picture. Behind Britain's abject surrender to Mussolini and the sudden willingness to give away half of Abyssinia were six important factors.

ONE was a report made by British secret agents on Mussolini's new concentration and the state of mind of the Italian people. Chief purpose of this was to ascertain whether Mussolini was bluffing when he threatened European war in case of oil embargo.

The Britishers of the "To Beat The Band" are not bluffing. Self-prime, were reported against concentrated secretly against English shipping. British agents concluded that the very secrecy of the ship movements belied any idea of bluff. They also reported the Italian people ready for war.

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT

By DON O'MALLEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The opening of the opera season centers at attention once more upon the fact that music in New York is pretty much in the hands of society people.

For almost a century the "diamond horseshoe" has virtually controlled operatic matters in town. The great orchestras, too, have depended upon the patronage of the Four Hundred. But the other departments of music have been similarly affected, with the homes of the blue-bloods as the focal points of influence.

Miss Vincent Astor has been a leader in holding private musicales. Seventeen years ago she was the first to open her house for the Schola Cantorum. Leopold Stokowski, chief Philadelphia orchestra leader, gave a lecture at the time. Since then Mrs. Otto Kahn, Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James, Mrs. E. Marshall Field, Mrs. Payne Whitney, Clarence Maxwell and many others have followed suit.

Violinists, singers and pianists, too, have become entrenched in their professional standing by appearing at the homes of the wealthy. A private recital arranged by a Countess Merelli or a Mrs. Henry P. du Pont is almost indispensable for success. For years the Bazy Monday Musicales, patronized by society, have helped set the seal of approval upon soloists marked for professional favor.

Most of the wealthy, however, would find it hard to tell the difference between a Bach suite and a Stravinsky ballet, which makes it kind of tough on the musicians.

NEWCOMERS—The bright young college men are becoming recruits for Broadway's producing ranks. I thought that Joseph Verner Reed's "The Curtain Falls" would effectively discourage anyone from ever trying that crazy game again. But apparently the hook is not on the undergraduate reading lists.

Four youngsters not long separated from their campus days have leaped into the Broadway mainstream this season. Malcolm L. Pearson and Donald E. Baruch, who own the

and understand each other, with reservations. That's sophistication, 1935 model.

Hollywood admittedly isn't always successful in carrying out its intentions. But if Hollywood takes advantage of the brains it has been attracting, and can follow its best inclinations, many comedies such as the two mentioned will be made in 1936. Snub, sirens as Claudette Colbert, Carole Lombard, Ginger Rogers, Betty Davis and even Marlene Dietrich—hitherto known chiefly as "glamor girls"—will be seen often as comedienne.

All of which is a cue to look at what Lasker has brought recently. Greatly encouraged by the world-wide success of such easily sophisticated comedies as "Hands Across The Table" the studio has bought and made "The Bride Comes Home" with Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray. The latter picture has sophistication of a different kind—it doesn't for a moment suggest that modern folks are simple, because that was the kind of sophistication understood to years ago.

Instead, Miss Colbert is suggesting on the screen that we moderns are patient, compassionate and wise that, despite mutual disappointments in each other, people like and understand each other, with reservations. That's sophistication, 1935 model.

Directors Of Local Chamber Are Selected the annual meeting of the Chamber, held last in November and were chosen by the members of the Chamber at a mail election conducted within the past week and concluded with the counting of the ballots yesterday.

The committee of tellers was headed by Fred S. Persson, chairman, and Ivan Conn and T. Emmet Ward.

The winners in the election are all incumbent directors, with the exception of Creecher, who is added to the board as a new member. He is manager of the Standard Sanitary Company and has long been active in the affairs of the Chamber of Commerce, the Community Chest and other local movements.

The new board will hold its initial meeting January 8, at which time it will organize for 1936 and elect officers for the year.

Great interest was taken in this year's election, and return ballots were received from virtually the entire membership.

Violinists, singers and pianists, too, have become entrenched in their professional standing by appearing at the homes of the wealthy. A private recital arranged by a Countess Merelli or a Mrs. Henry P. du Pont is almost indispensable for success. For years the Bazy Monday Musicales, patronized by society, have helped set the seal of approval upon soloists marked for professional favor.

Most of the wealthy, however, would find it hard to tell the difference between a Bach suite and a Stravinsky ballet, which makes it kind of tough on the musicians.

NEWCOMERS—The bright young college men are becoming recruits for Broadway's producing ranks. I thought that Joseph Verner Reed's "The Curtain Falls" would effectively discourage anyone from ever trying that crazy game again. But apparently the hook is not on the undergraduate reading lists.

Four youngsters not long separated from their campus days have leaped into the Broadway mainstream this season. Malcolm L. Pearson and Donald E. Baruch, who own the

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Elimination, If Regular, Keeps Body in a Perfect State of Health

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.
How is your elimination? or words which aren't so nice but mean the same, is an ever-recurring question of the doctor's. And there are still people who do not know why we must continue to ask that question, no matter how often we see a patient. Most folks take the working of the human body for granted, and do not realize the body is a machine with the most exquisite adjustments, yet equipped to provide a wide range of functions with great regularity.

DR. CHRISMAN

The first of these, digestion, is partly mechanical and partly chemical. That is, the food we take is broken down in a form that is suited to our assimilation, partly by the muscular action of the jaws and later the stomach and intestines, and partly by the chemical action of the saliva and gastric juices which it meets on its journey through the system.

Part of the digestive task begins as soon as the teeth break up the food, because the saliva acts upon the starchy portions and begins their conversion into sugar.

An Old Idea

We like to think tasty foods or foods we especially like are easier to digest because of the plentiful supply of saliva that pours into the mouth during the act of chewing palatable foods. It doesn't always hold good, for some of us find the things we like best disagreeing with us.

However, any kind of food should be generously treated to the fluids in the mouth before they are passed on to the stomach. Here is the important gastric area where foods such as meat, milk, and other proteins are churned about until prepared to enter the small intestine.

It is here, in the small intestine, whose wall is composed of thousands of tiny cells, that the food must give up its various constituents which are absorbed through the cells and passed on to every portion of the body.

Quite a miracle, isn't it, that blood and bone, teeth, muscles and hair, must all be made from the materials that pass through this canal? Meantime the set of processes which we call metabolism begins. In spite of the ability of the word to scare many people, who are told things about their "metabolic rate" this is merely the eternal process of breaking down old waste tissues and building up new ones.

Matter of Regularity

Rate is merely an expression of your capacity for keeping the process going on regularly. A perfect rate means health and comfort. The final stage is to eliminate the waste products. If digestion has been good there isn't much of the food left by the time it reaches the lower intestine; perhaps some fiber, like bran or the woody portion of vegetables.

But whatever the residue, it has collected with it the many impurities of the body as it passed through. The presence of bacteria adds to the formation of further waste.

Absorption continues through the walls of the colon, or large intestine, and the waste matter becomes gradually drier and less inclined to progress freely.

Any sluggishness for even a few hours allows the intestine to become more impacted, bacteria to multiply, and a flood of infections and impurities to find their way back into the system. So we are eternally asking, "How about your elimination?"

Short Cuts

A choice ham has a round butt and a short shank. It has a nice covering of fat and the meat is firm and smooth. A ham that meets the grade according to these standards will not need to be soaked or parboiled before baking.

The quickest and cleanest way to gather up hairs from the floor is with a dampened cloth or wad of paper.

The homemaker who wants to keep her hands soft and white, will drop a little lemon juice in the palms and rub well over the hands immediately after dishwashing.

Glass cooking ware with corrugated "heat quick" bottoms that insure uniform baking, come nicely etched to look well on your table. Dishes that one may cook and serve in are a great convenience.

Potato skins for French frying should be soaked in cold or ice water for about one hour. Dry thoroughly between towels before frying. Cold water soaking will give the potatoes a new crispness.

Guide to Charm

Right Makeup To the Beauty Is Important

By JACQUELINE HUNT

IN YOUR pursuit of loveliness do not underestimate the importance of having the right makeup. Of course, your skin should be as smooth, healthy, and clear as you can make it, but its full beauty is lost if your decorative cosmetics are carelessly chosen.

Apply your usual make-up in your usual way, and then study yourself critically in your mirror—both under artificial light and in the bright sunlight. Does your powder, rouge, and lipstick blend harmoniously with your skin coloring and with each other? Does your skin look cosmetically made up—or have your cosmetics become an inseparable part of it?

Your skin is not a static thing. It is not the same color from season to season, or even from week to week. The powder that suited you in the fall may be unsuitable now. Even though the shade is still good, the texture may not be as suitable as it was when you bought it.

With the dozens of shades, weights, and textures available, you should be able to find something that blends so naturally with your skin tones one cannot tell whether they are powdered or not—only your skin seems more velvety and fine after you have used it.

Most cosmetics departments in large stores now display all of the different powder shades and weights in different brands by making small heaps on special white china palettes. You are able, not only to see and compare the different colors, but actually to try them out before you buy.

If you have one of those difficult-in-between complexions nearly impossible to suit by the two colors that most nearly match your skin tones, one a little lighter, the other darker. Use an empty powder box with a tight-fitting lid and a small amount of each kind of powder, and experiment until you find a mixture right for your skin.

Then, as your skin grows fairer toward midwinter—or darker if you go South—add a greater proportion of the lighter or darker powder. If your skin needs enlivening add just a tiny bit of powder, with more of a rose or creamy pink cast to it. If it needs toning down add a small proportion of beige. Some of the nicest powder shades I have used are those I have blended myself.

Because of the seasonal changes in skin coloring, you may find a new rouge more satisfactory. Perhaps you need one with more orange in it, or perhaps you need a rosier shade (if your skin is clear and coolly fair) to bring out the quiescent tones in your skin and brighten your eyes.

Lip rouge must always blend harmoniously with your cheek rouge. In most leading lines of cosmetics both the cheek and lip rouge are designated by the same color name so you can be sure of getting shades that harmonize. If you use a cheek rouge and lipstick of different brands, then you must experiment until you find the most suitable combination.

BUTTONED HIGH

Typical of the choice of the younger set at sports events is the fitted belted reefer. These are generally in mixture tweeds or patterned woolsens and are characterized by the small turnouts, collars, and double-breasted closings. The buttons placed high.

Formal Clothes In Colors Lead In New York Shops

By IRENE VAIL

New York—Because of the season New York shops are putting forth much emphasis on formal gowns for cocktail, dinner, and evening wear, also bright colored afternoon dresses made of luxury fabrics. Practically every store is featuring formal clothes in vivid purplish blue for afternoon and evening wear—in silk heavy sheers, metal blues and satin, also dull crepes.

The halter type of neckline persists in collections of evening fashions prepared for holiday, resort, and cruise wear, necklines of this sort approved in chiffon, satin and crepe, in sparkling fashions and in fringed types. The neckline introducing a T-strap at the back continuing a T-strap at the back and shoulders practically bare, also the dress with neckline cut in a deep slender V at the front and a deep and wider V at the back, the shoulders covered, is also a half-lighted type.

It may be that we have been none too communicative on the subject of furs. It's because most women have a pretty definite idea of what they want.

With the prospect of a check in one's stocking on Christmas it occurs to me to report on the furs worn at the last big game of the year, attended by women who know their way about and are at home in sport shops.

Mink led the brown furs, with both straightline and semi-fitted full length mink coats the choice of a large proportion of both matrons and younger women. Following this luxury choice, there was a moderate amount of favor for Japanese mink, for beaver and sheared beaver in swaggy coats, and for summer ermine. In the volume selections, muskrat was a big feature.

Food Basket Makes Good Holiday Gift

By JUDITH WILSON

THERE is no more appropriate gift at Christmas time than an attractively packed box or basket containing a variety of good things to eat. Such a gift is just as appropriate for the family which "has everything" as it is for the boy or girl away at school or for less fortunate friends.

For the woman with imagination who loves to cook and putter about her kitchen such gifts do not cost much. The biggest investment is in attractive baskets or boxes large enough for the gifts and gay rolls of cellophane, Christmas paper, seals, and ribbon.

If you have been careful to save boxes and baskets during the summer you may have some on hand that need only to be given a gay coat of lacquer, lined with bright paper, and decorated with holly, mistletoe or small twigs of fir.

- LUNCHEONS
Cream of Potato Soup
Baked Tomatoes with Liver
Stuffed
Wholewheat-Cucumber
Sandwiches
Raspberry Jelly—Angel Cake
Tea with Lemon
- Hot Ham Sandwiches with
Orange-Raisin Sauce
Potato Chips
Butterscotch Custards
Cookies
Cocoa

Into these gift baskets should go your special jellies. Jams should be put into attractive small containers or jelly glasses that can be wrapped in cellophane and decorated gaily. Small fruit cakes, packages of cookies, homemade candies, popcorn balls for the children, tiny loaves of date or nut bread that will stay fresh for some time and if there are lovers of unusual things in the family, packages of novelty crackers and tiny jars of petite fole gras, caviar and cheeses blended with wine are other gift foods.

Here are some welcome additions to your gift baskets, whether they are large or small:

Glaze Nutmeats
Shell walnuts, pecans and Brazil nuts and select the perfect nuts. Boil together 1 cup water, 1 cup white corn syrup and 4 tablespoons hot water until the syrup bubbles. Instantly drop the nuts into cold water. Dip the nuts in whole nutmeats quickly a few at a time, taking out on the tines of a fork and laying on oiled paper. These harden immediately.

Raisin Popcorn Balls
Place 2 cups granulated sugar, 1 cup brown sugar, 3/4 cup corn syrup and 1 cup water into a saucepan and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Cook until a drop in cold water will form a soft ball. Add 1 tablespoon butter and cook to the hard ball stage. Add 2 cups seeded raisins that have been steamed until plump. Pour some of the syrup over a large pan of crisp popcorn and mold that is moistened into balls. Add more of the syrup and continue until all is used. You will need about 6 quarts freshly popped corn. When cool and dry wrap the balls in red and green squares of cellophane and tie with silver cords.

Molasses Cookies
Heat 1 cup molasses, remove from the fire and add 1/2 cup butter or other shortening and 2 teaspoons soda. Sift 2 1/2 cups prepared flour with 1 1/2 teaspoons ginger, 1 teaspoon baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt. Add gradually to the molasses mixture, blending well. Chill the dough and roll very

MODERN WOMEN

The Up-to-Date Woman Tends Less and Less to Worship New Fashions

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

WHICH type of woman are you, the one who sacrifices her vanity for her home, or the one who sacrifices her home for vanity? If your budget is limited and it's a question of a new frock or new curtains, something for personal adornment or something for the home, what do you do?

You and Your Child

Child Made Self-Conscious by Teasing

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

TEN-YEAR-OLD GEORGE was displaying some raffia handiwork to several of his mother's guests. "Do you like this one? I made one just like it for my girl," he observed innocently.

The grown-ups were amused. One of them said, with a knowing wink, "I'll bet she's pretty, George. Tell us about her." The company meanwhile nudged each other and snickered. For this episode he observed innocently.

George's face assumed an expression of disgust. "Ugh! What a face. She is the funniest looking thing I ever saw!" Every one of his playmates and guests who teased boys and girls do not know what they are doing. Until a child is old enough to exercise discrimination in the choice of friends, his playmates are chosen for convenience. If boys are not around and a girl is, he will play with the girl. A child has to have a little sport at his expense. Instead, the boy had put them in their place by his frankness and complete innocence. This case, however, is an exception.

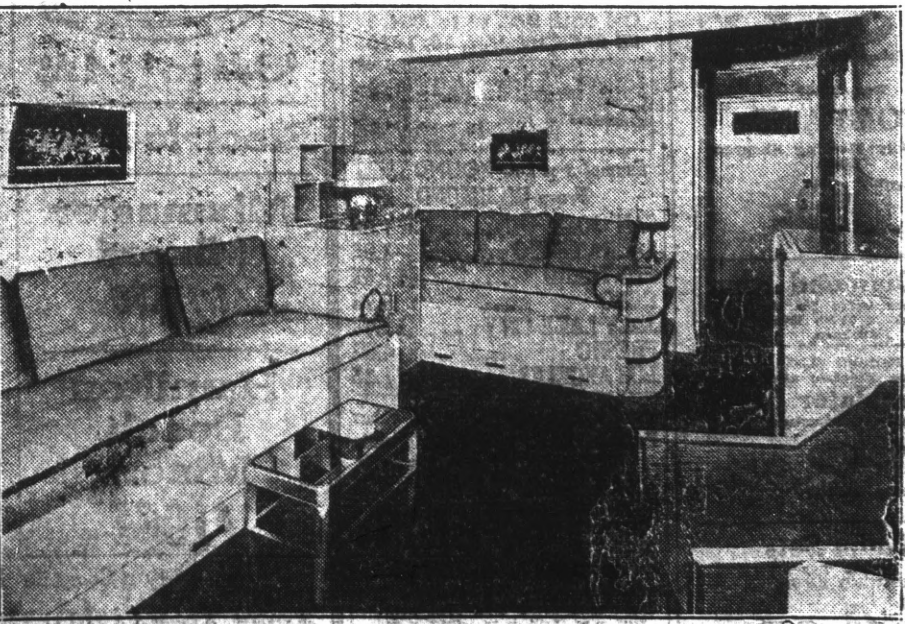

Adults who tease boys and girls about girl friends and boy friends, do not know what they are doing. Until a child is old enough to exercise discrimination in the choice of friends, his playmates are chosen for convenience. If boys are not around and a girl is, he will play with the girl. A child has to have a little sport at his expense. Instead, the boy had put them in their place by his frankness and complete innocence. This case, however, is an exception.

"I see you have a new girl friend. What's her name?" and so on, suggests that there is something mysteriously wicked in boy-girl relationships. It is cruel to make a child who innocently enjoys the companionship of some one of the opposite sex feel ashamed by teasing him about it. Why attach any significance to boy-girl friendships? If a child forms a deep attachment for some one of the opposite sex, respect the fact that he has a reason for admiring her. Jokes and remarks directed toward this friendship may cheapen it in his eyes.

Thin. Cut into stars, reindeers, Christmas trees and Santa Claus shapes. Bake on a greased baking sheet in a moderate oven for 10 minutes. Decorate with silver candies, raisins, bits of candied cherries and colored frosting. Include several of these in every Christmas package.

Gifts that suggest luxury and add charm and beauty are those carrying the subtlest flattery. Send the new leaflet of suggestions, "Christmas Gifts of Beauty," enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

IN MODERN SPIRIT

This is a room in a New York hotel after being remodeled. The twin beds were merely remodeled to create the attractive book-compartments, and storage drawers underneath the beds were made from leftover lumber.

Despite the opinion of many that woman's vanity is her besetting sin, I insist an astonishing number of women care more for beautifying their homes than for themselves.

Many women browse around in the household goods departments of the big stores and show greater interest in gadgets for the home than in the latest fashions. In fact, I venture the opinion that, "clothes crazy" as women are purported to be, clothes mean less to women today than they ever have.

Shopping was the delight of women of previous generations; it is "a pain in the neck" to women today. Not all women, of course, but all women of attainments. When such a woman shops it is usually because she has a well-appointed dress for an occasion or some specific purpose, or because she simply cannot get along longer without it.

Value the Home

Among the women I know most are far more meticulous about having the right thing for their homes than for themselves. And they are not fuss-budgets, either, but women with sense enough to know the genuine satisfaction to be had from a well-appointed home. Perhaps they are inordinately vain women, enough so to feel confidence in their own charm and ability to rise above changing fashions. They want good-looking clothes of course, and have them, but as they are interested in world events. Imagine a woman of pre-war vintage going to Paris without coming home laden with as much personal finery as she could manage to buy? Perhaps it is the exceptional woman who would do this today, yet it has been done. I admit it would be impossible for me, but for all that, my hat is off to a young woman who returns from her first trip abroad with a trunk full of Georgian silver, rather than perfume and finery.

"I didn't go into a single shop in Paris," this remarkable person confided. Why should I? I hate shopping, anyway.

Why, indeed, unless she were impelled by curiosity to see how the other half of the world sells its wares, which sooner or later find their way over here, anyway.

To me, a great part of the fun of traveling is acquiring such things as appeal en route. Sometimes they fit into the scheme of home, sometimes not. In any event, they are never in the white elephant class, since they may serve as gifts to those who can make better use of them.

Always Laden Down

I never managed to return from abroad without being laden down like a pack mule, so I sit in open-mouthed astonishment at the feat of a woman who could keep out of the Paris shops and who has the intelligence to make her purchases among the lastingly lovely things instead of currently pretty ones.

Such a woman was one of my best friends. For a long time it was her privilege to make two trips to Europe yearly. She spent a fortune on fashionable fashions, four hundred dollars for a dress, two for this frumpy or that, with the result that when lean days came she had nothing of intrinsic value to show for the thousands of dollars she had spent in a vain effort of keeping up with the smart thing—the last word.

Fashion has its place and purpose; I do not underestimate its value in life. One cannot ignore it and look anything other than a freak, but if it came to choosing between something merely fashionable and something lasting, I should not be much impressed by the intelligence of the woman who chooses the former.

The vanity of the woman of today is many-sided. She has grown up sufficiently to understand that being all dressed does not guarantee charm, and that there are qualities with greater appeal—intelligence and a sense of values.

Meaning of Champagne

The meaning of the word "champagne" is a moot question. The French hold it can be applied only to wines produced from grapes grown in the Champagne district in France, and made after the method of the champagneization method of slow fermentation in the bottle. However, sparkling wines are made by exactly the same method in many countries and are allowed by law to be called "champagne."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
If you feel sour and sunk and this world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, all laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.
For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down and out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.
If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in pimples. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.
It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.
You don't take for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. (Beware a substitute. 28¢ at drug stores. ©1935 C. M. Co.)

OLD PEOPLE find way to keep breath wholesome

Halitosis (bad breath) quickly yields to Listerine, safe antiseptic and deodorant
Either because of stomach disturbances, food fermentation, or the wearing of false teeth, old people frequently have halitosis (bad breath). No wonder others consider them a nuisance.
But now Science has found that the regular use of Listerine will often overcome offensive mouth odors due to the fermentation of tiny bits of food on mouth, teeth, or dental plate surfaces.
This safe antiseptic and quick deodorant works quickly. It cleanses mouth, teeth, and gum surfaces. Halts fermentation and putrefaction, a major cause of odors, and then counteracts the odors themselves.
Try using Listerine every two or three days. See how much more wholesome it leaves your mouth. How it sweetens your breath. Lambert Pharmaceutical Co., St. Louis, Mo.

CHARTER TO BRING ABOUT NEW SET-UP

another matter. The Richmond board now elects Harding and Fairmont school instructors, but under the charter El Cerrito would assume their salary liability.

Under the state school code, "every city or incorporated town, except cities of the sixth class, unless subdivided by the legislative authority thereof, shall constitute a separate school district which shall be governed by the board of education or board of school trustees of such city or incorporated town."

El Cerrito is now a city of the sixth class and, therefore, does not come under the above section. But, it has been maintained that the new charter would place it under the clause.

NO AUTHORITY

To further complicate matters there is no authority in Sections 8 or 8 1/2 of Article XI of the State constitution relating to city charters that would authorize a city charter to contain any provisions relative to the inclusion or exclusion of a school district within the boundaries of the chartered city.

One avenue of escape from the dilemma was pointed out by freeholders when they read a section of the School Code which says that the board of trustees of such school districts may provide for the holding of an election "at which election it shall be submitted the question of the district being governed by the provisions of the charter of such city or town."

Hellus stated yesterday that such an election could not be held in El Cerrito because the voters there would have to vote to take over the Richmond elementary school district and Richmond had voted years ago to take over El Cerrito schools.

As a result, the freeholders of El Cerrito are faced with a puzzling situation which threatens the success of the new charter movement.

Opponents of the plan to take over the schools declare that because of limited assessed valuation in El Cerrito the schools would be reduced to somewhat the proportions of village schools and that it would be impossible to maintain all the departments that are now provided by the Richmond board for the El Cerrito schools.

Raid Fails To Stop The Dog Track

joy the respite and put more vim and vigor in their contests.

EVERYBODY HAPPY

In the meantime the principal in the controversy seemed to be satisfied. The district attorney, following a well-established custom, issued a statement in Martinez saying:

"I am very well satisfied with the result of the raid. I think we have secured sufficient evidence to provide a fair test of the legality of the option system. The cases will go directly to the Superior court, but time of hearing is uncertain. The arrested persons are accused of no offense."

WILL OPERATE

Leo Sullivan, attorney for the track, last evening declared that the operation of the track would continue just as though no raid had taken place. "We furnished the district attorney's office with sufficient evidence for his purpose of a test case as to the legality of the option system. We are perfectly willing to face that issue in any way in any court, believing that we are operating in a legal manner and are within our rights in conducting a legitimate amusement enterprise."

Asked as to whether a defense would be offered when the preliminary hearing is held before Justice of the Peace MacKinnon in El Cerrito, the attorney replied "that depends upon circumstances and the nature of the case that is presented there by the district attorney's office."

Hotel Shooting Is Being Probed

MARTINEZ, Dec. 19.—Investigation into the shooting of one De Penardi, 41, cook at the American hotel, Crockett, was being conducted today by the district attorney's office, after a scuffle and fight between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning at the hotel.

It was reported that shortly after 2 o'clock seven youths went to the hotel bar. There it was reported employees refused to serve them because it was after 2 o'clock. Shortly afterward a fight developed between two of the youths and De Penardi, a time in the role of peace-maker, was wounded in the left small finger, and the left part of his right leg when someone discharged a pistol.

God did not return him to consciousness after you struck him, so only his family and friends knew that his right leg was so badly broken that doctors decided amputation was useless; there was nothing left to be saved.

"From the time you struck him, Sunday, about 5:30 P. M., on Irvington avenue, until the time he passed away at 2:30 P. M., Monday, his breath came through his mouth in short, fitful saps, each one with a message. 'This is the last,' and all the time he was bleeding, with no way to stop the flow of blood."

"YOU DID ALL THIS, HIT-RUN DRIVER, BUT THAT IS NOT ALL. 'YOU ROBBED A 5 YEAR OLD BOY OF HIS FATHER, a devoted father. May the call of this little boy, 'Daddy, daddy, come back, daddy,' may that call ring in your ears."

"YOU ROBBED A 17 YEAR OLD DAUGHTER of a loving, understanding, indulgent father. May her stifled groans and teeth-clenched moans sound in your head when you try to chew your food."

"YOU ROBBED A SICK MOTHER of her helpmate, her companion for twenty-three years, of her strength and stay. You turned her hair from black to gray overnight. May her grief-stricken, tear-stained face appear before you every time you see a glass."

"Hit-run driver, you did all these things; you turned the festival Thanksgiving Day into a day of mourning. Hit-run driver, keep your freedom. We don't want you in made-made jails. But may the memory of your deed never leave you through your living days."

hem on overcoat, hat and a pair of black socks, found near a school house at Aquitong, less than a mile from where the youth was found alongside the roadway early today, sound and gagged.

Another group of Federal men were questioning Samuel R. Gerhart, Philadelphia, who first discovered the kidnap victim and took him to a farmhouse and later to the hospital here. Others who aided in rescuing Milne, who was thrown into a ditch from a speeding car near Buckingham, were Morris Ureghart, Jack Keweenaw, Bob Keweenaw, Max Glickin and Lance Smith.

Justice operatives informed that had a "hot clue" to the kidnapers and emphatically stated that "not one cent had been paid for Milne's release."

Milne, who suffered from exhaustion, cold and hunger, was rapidly recovering tonight. Physicians said he would be removed to the home of his grandfather, Caleb J. Milne, Jr., at Philadelphia tomorrow.

Nissen's Job To Remain Vacant

MARTINEZ, Dec. 19.—Doubt was voiced today by Traffic Captain George Belon that an immediate appointment of a traffic officer will be made here to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Patrolman Charles Nissen.

Belon said the county's eligible list has been exhausted and it is doubtful if the motor vehicle department will make a temporary assignment.

Charles Miller of Richmond and Mark Biglow of Antioch are now attending the traffic officers' school at Sacramento. If they pass required tests they will be assigned to duty as probationary officers shortly.

Belon said he expects to have expectations here.

Mrs. Paulos left for the home of her mother, Mrs. Bertha Hurt, on a farm near Enumclaw, Wash. She will visit there with relatives, including her son Elmer Peterson, by her first marriage, and later will go to the home of an aunt in Virginia.

Dismiss Charge Against Owner Of Annex Night Club

Justice of the Peace A. H. MacKinnon in El Cerrito yesterday dismissed charges of violating State liquor laws against Stanley Parsons, asserted owner of the 90 Club, a Richmond Annex club. Attorney R. L. Miller, representing the 90 Club, moved for the dismissal of the charge on the grounds that Parsons did not actually sell the liquor, himself.

Judgment in the cases of Joe Connolly, Alice Blake and Ray Lehman, asserted employees of the club was held in abeyance pending the outcome of a similar case in the court of Judge Fred V. Wood in Alameda county.

Emery Long, state board investigator, testified that Alice Blake, Pay Lehman and Joe Connolly sold him liquor after 2 A. M.

Deputy District Attorney Harold Jacoby represented the district attorney's office.

The 90 Club was raided several weeks ago along with Paul's Place, another Annex resort. Paul Molino, asserted proprietor of the establishment pleaded guilty to similar charges and was given a suspended sentence.

PARTNER QUIZZED

De Cicco may have known of this, as he was seen with his former wife frequently in the weeks prior to her death.

Second, investigators are anxious to know what connection, if any, may have existed between Miss Todd, her former husband and Red West, her business associate, who lived in the same set of rooms the actress occupied above her roadside cafe.

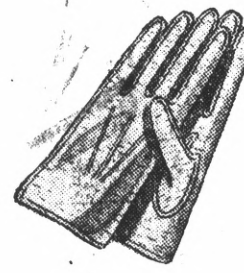

West, a well-groomed, middle-aged man who was known to have been one of Miss Todd's most intimate associates, was questioned closely during the coroner's inquest, on the possibility Miss Todd intended resuming relations with her divorced husband.

THIS CHRISTMAS

Give some young friend a . . . Savings Account . . . help him achieve success!

"I have often been asked to define the true secret of success. It is thrift in all its phases and principally thrift as applied to saving. A young man may have many friends, but he will find none so steadfast, so ready to respond to his wants, so capable of pushing him ahead, as a little leather-covered book with the name of a bank on its cover."
